SUGGESTION OF REMAND MEMORANDUM
December 21, 2016

TO: Transferor Judge
FROM: Judge Joseph R. Goodwin, Presiding Judicial Officer, Ethicon MDL, MD 2327
RE: Ethicon MDL Pelvic Mesh Case(s) transferred to your court –
Holly Jones, et al. v. Ethicon, Inc., et al.*, No. 2:12-cv-00443

I. Status of this case.

This case has been remanded to the transferor court, the United States District Court for the Northern District of California, from MDL 2327 in the Southern District of West Virginia. I note that the parties identified the United States District Court for the Western District of Michigan as the proper venue for this case.

All pretrial proceedings, including discovery and dispositive and Daubert motion practice, are complete, and the case is ready for trial. In fact, I respectfully and strongly urge the transferor court to set this case for trial as soon as possible. While the parties may insist that further discovery or motion practice is necessary, I assure you that it is not. If the transferor court will set a firm date and not allow further delay, it will aid my efforts in this MDL. In addition, I urge the transferor court to limit the number of trial days for this trial. I limited trial in these cases to six to nine days, and this has proven more than adequate.

I refer the transferor court to my Daubert rulings in this case [ECF Nos. 116, 117, 118, 119, 120, 121, 123, 124, 125, 126, 127, 129], summary judgment rulings [ECF No. 131], and rulings on motions in limine [ECF Nos. 128, 130].

II. History of MDL 2327 and other MDLs assigned to me.

I have been assigned seven MDLs by the Judicial Panel on Multidistrict Litigation (the “MDL Panel”), including MDL 2327, In re Ethicon, Inc. Pelvic Repair Systems Product Liability Litigation. In total, there are over 58,000 cases filed in the seven MDLs assigned to me, 28,000 of which reside in the Ethicon MDL. These cases allege injury related to the use of transvaginal surgical mesh to treat pelvic organ prolapse (“POP”) and/or stress urinary incontinence (“SUI”).

I originally tried two of five bellwether cases. Carolyn Lewis, et al. v. Johnson & Johnson, et al., No. 2:12-cv-4301 and Jo Huskey, et al. v. Ethicon, Inc., et al., No. 2:12-cv-05201. In Lewis, I entered judgment as a matter of law pursuant to Rule 50(a) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, plaintiffs appealed, and the United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit affirmed the decision. In Huskey, the jury returned a verdict in favor of plaintiffs in the amount of $3,270,000. Defendants appealed, and the appeal is pending before the Fourth Circuit. The other three bellwethers settled or were dismissed by the parties prior to trial. Tonya Edwards, et al. v. Ethicon, Inc., et al., No. 2:12-09972; Dianne M. Bellew v. Ethicon, Inc., et al., No. 2:13-cv-22473;

Brenda Lehrer v. Ethicon, Inc., et al., No. 2:12-08157.

In addition to trying bellwethers, I entered orders setting hundreds of additional cases (involving plaintiffs from several districts across the United States) on an expedited track for individual discovery and motion practice so that those cases, known as Ethicon Waves 1, 2, 3 and 4, could be remanded or transferred if no success is had in settlement. The instant case is one of those cases from Ethicon Wave 1. Incipient settlements exist and discussions are ongoing in many more cases. While I have been extremely patient in this process and continue to encourage those settlement discussions, I find it necessary to begin the process of remanding. In addition to the cases in Waves 1 through 4, thousands of additional cases will be identified, worked up and remanded or transferred. Finally, I have scheduled a trial involving approximately 30 plaintiffs from West Virginia in March, 2017.

III. Noteworthy Ruling regarding the FDA 510(k) process.

I have consistently and repeatedly ruled in all cases in this MDL and the other MDLs assigned to me that plaintiffs' claims are not preempted by the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act ("FDCA"). The Medical Device Amendments ("MDA") to the FDCA contain an express preemption provision. The provision provides that, with respect to medical devices, state law may not impose any requirement "which is different from, or in addition to" the requirements of the FDCA, or any requirement "which relates to the safety or effectiveness of the device or to any other matter included in a requirement applicable to the device under [the FDCA]." 21 U.S.C. § 360k(a). The products involved in this MDL received clearance under the FDCA's 510(k) process, which, as the Supreme Court held, focuses on "equivalence, not safety." Medtronic, Inc. v. Lohr, 518 U.S. 470, 493 (1996). Thus, as explained in Lohr, the FDCA's preemption provision does not apply to state law product liability claims regarding medical devices that underwent 510(k) clearance rather than the premarket approval process. In addition, I further concluded that the modest probative value of such evidence is substantially outweighed by the risk of unfair prejudice, specifically, the risk of confusing and misleading the jury. See, e.g., Cisson v. C. R. Bard, Inc., 86 F. Supp. 3d 510, 517 (S.D. W. Va. 2015), available at 2015 WL 566959; Lewis v. Johnson & Johnson, 991 F. Supp. 2d 748, 754 (S.D. W. Va. 2014); Sanchez v. Boston Scientific Corp. (Sanchez I), No. 2:12-cv-05762, 2014 WL 4059214, at *15 (S.D. W. Va. Aug. 18, 2014).

The Fourth Circuit recently affirmed this court's determination that the probative value of evidence related to 510(k) clearance is substantially outweighed by its possible prejudicial impact and was properly excluded under Rule 403. In re C. R. Bard, 810 F.3d 913, 922 (4th Cir. 2016) (crediting the district court's concern that "subjecting the jury to many hours, and possibly days, of complex testimony about regulatory compliance could lead jurors to erroneously conclude that regulatory compliance proved product safety. In other words, having a 'mini-trial' could easily inflate the perceived importance of compliance and distract the jury from the central question before it").

RE: Ethicon MDL Pelvic Mesh Case(s) remanded to your court –

I. Status of this case.

This case has been remanded to the transferor court, the United States District Court for the District of Minnesota, from MDL 2327 in the Southern District of West Virginia.

All pretrial proceedings, including discovery and dispositive and Daubert motion practice, are complete, and the case is ready for trial. ORDER AND SUGGESTION OF REMAND

Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1407 and the Rules for Multidistrict Litigation promulgated thereunder, specifically Rule 10.1(b), the court suggests that this action be remanded to the United States District Court for the Western District of North Carolina. All pretrial proceedings, including discovery and dispositive, Daubert and in limine motion practice, are complete, and the case is ready for trial. I have attached a Suggestion of Remand Memorandum for the transferor court's reference.

Upon receipt of an order to remand from the Clerk of the Judicial Panel on Multidistrict Litigation ("MDL Panel") and any joint designation of the MDL 2327 record by counsel, the Clerk of this court is directed to transmit the following to the transferor court: (1) a copy of the member case docket sheet; (2) the entire file for the member case; (2) the docket sheet for MDL 2327, 2:12-md-2327; (3) all Pretrial Orders ("PTO") entered in 2:12-md-2327; and (4) any other filing from 2:12-md-2327 which the parties jointly designate. It is ORDERED that within seven (7) days of the MDL Panel's remand order, the parties shall file a joint designation of any non-PTO filings from 2:12-md-2327.

The court DIRECTS the Clerk to send a copy of this Order and Suggestion of Remand to the Clerk of the MDL Panel, counsel of record and any unrepresented party.

SUGGESTION OF REMAND MEMORANDUM
December 20, 2016

TO: Transferor Judge
FROM: Judge Joseph R. Goodwin, Presiding Judicial Officer, Ethicon MDL, MD 2327
RE: Ethicon MDL Pelvic Mesh Case(s) transferred to your court –
Betty Funderburke v. Ethicon, Inc., et al.*, No. 2:12-cv-00957

I. Status of this case.

This case has been remanded to the transferor court, the United States District Court for the Western District of North Carolina, from MDL 2327 in the Southern District of West Virginia.

All pretrial proceedings, including discovery and dispositive and Daubert motion practice, are complete, and the case is ready for trial. In fact, I respectfully and strongly urge the transferor court to set this case for trial as soon as possible. While the parties may insist that further discovery or motion practice is necessary, I assure you that it is not. If the transferor court will set a firm date and not allow further delay, it will aid my efforts in this MDL. In addition, I urge the transferor court to limit the number of trial days for this trial. I limited trial in these cases to six to nine days, and this has proven more than adequate.

I refer the transferor court to my Daubert rulings in this case [ECF Nos. 143, 144, 145, 146, 147, 150, 151, 152, 156, 157, 158], summary judgment rulings [ECF No. 154], and rulings on motions in limine [ECF Nos. 153, 155].

II. History of MDL 2327 and other MDLs assigned to me.

I have been assigned seven MDLs by the Judicial Panel on Multidistrict Litigation (the “MDL Panel”), including MDL 2327, In re Ethicon, Inc. Pelvic Repair Systems Product Liability Litigation. In total, there are over 58,000 cases filed in the seven MDLs assigned to me, 28,000 of which reside in the Ethicon MDL. These cases allege injury related to the use of transvaginal surgical mesh to treat pelvic organ prolapse (“POP”) and/or stress urinary incontinence (“SUI”).

I originally tried two of five bellwether cases. Carolyn Lewis, et al. v. Johnson & Johnson, et al., No. 2:12-cv-4301 and Jo Huskey, et al. v. Ethicon, Inc., et al., No. 2:12-cv-05201. In Lewis, I entered judgment as a matter of law pursuant to Rule 50(a) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, plaintiffs appealed, and the United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit affirmed the decision. In Huskey, the jury returned a verdict in favor of plaintiffs in the amount of $3,270,000. Defendants appealed, and the appeal is pending before the Fourth Circuit. The other three bellwethers settled or were dismissed by the parties prior to trial. Tonya Edwards, et al. v. Ethicon, Inc., et al., No. 2:12-09972; Dianne M. Bellew v. Ethicon, Inc., et al., No. 2:13-cv-22473; Brenda Lehrer v. Ethicon, Inc., et al., No. 2:12-08157.

In addition to trying bellwethers, I entered orders setting hundreds of additional cases (involving plaintiffs from several districts across the United States) on an expedited track for individual discovery and motion practice so that those cases, known as Ethicon Waves 1, 2, 3 and 4, could be remanded or transferred if no success is had in settlement. The instant case is one of those cases from Ethicon Wave 1. Incipient settlements exist and discussions are ongoing in many more cases. While I have been extremely patient in this process and continue to encourage those settlement discussions, I find it necessary to begin the process of remanding. In addition to the cases in Waves 1 through 4, thousands of additional cases will be identified, worked up and remanded or transferred. I note that there are approximately three cases that were transferred from North Carolina, and there are likely hundreds more direct filed in the Southern District of West Virginia with proper venue in North Carolina. These cases also will be worked up and remanded in the near future absent settlement. Finally, I have scheduled a trial involving approximately 30 plaintiffs from West Virginia in March, 2017.

III. Noteworthy Ruling regarding the FDA 510(k) process.

I have consistently and repeatedly ruled in all cases in this MDL and the other MDLs assigned to me that plaintiffs' claims are not preempted by the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act ("FDCA"). The Medical Device Amendments ("MDA") to the FDCA contain an express preemption provision. The provision provides that, with respect to medical devices, state law may not impose any requirement "which is different from, or in addition to" the requirements of the FDCA, or any requirement "which relates to the safety or effectiveness of the device or to any other matter included in a requirement applicable to the device under [the FDCA]." 21 U.S.C. § 360k(a). The products involved in this MDL received clearance under the FDCA's 510(k) process, which, as the Supreme Court held, focuses on "equivalence, not safety." Medtronic, Inc. v. Lohr, 518 U.S. 470, 493 (1996). Thus, as explained in Lohr, the FDCA's preemption provision does not apply to state law product liability claims regarding medical devices that underwent 510(k) clearance rather than the premarket approval process. In addition, I further concluded that the modest probative value of such evidence is substantially outweighed by the risk of unfair prejudice, specifically, the risk of confusing and misleading the jury. See, e.g., Cisson v. C. R. Bard, Inc., 86 F. Supp. 3d 510, 517 (S.D. W. Va. 2015), available at 2015 WL 566959; Lewis v. Johnson & Johnson, 991 F. Supp. 2d 748, 754 (S.D. W. Va. 2014); Sanchez v. Boston Scientific Corp. (Sanchez I), No. 2:12-cv-05762, 2014 WL 4059214, at *15 (S.D. W. Va. Aug. 18, 2014).

The Fourth Circuit recently affirmed this court's determination that the probative value of evidence related to 510(k) clearance is substantially outweighed by its possible prejudicial impact and was properly excluded under Rule 403. In re C. R. Bard, 810 F.3d 913, 922 (4th Cir. 2016) (crediting the district court's concern that "subjecting the jury to many hours, and possibly days, of complex testimony about regulatory compliance could lead jurors to erroneously conclude that regulatory compliance proved product safety. In other words, having a 'mini-trial' could easily inflate the perceived importance of compliance and distract the jury from the central question before it").

IV. Resources available for transferor courts on the MDL 2327 website.
